SPATIALinfo Supports 10th Anniversary of Comcast CommTech Jeopardy

Englewood, Colo., Jan. 26, 2011 – SPATIALinfo Executive VP of Sales & Marketing, Bill Scheffler, was proud to be in attendance at the Annual Comcast CommTech Jeopardy Competition in Charleston, South Carolina held during the week of January 10th.

Now celebrating its 10th Anniversary, the CommTech Jeopardy Competition began in 2000 as a way to highlight the training available throughout the company. In the following years the competition grew to be a popular event within Comcast, and the rest of the telecommunications industry as well. This years' competition featured highlights from past competitions, and also focused on how Comcast has changed throughout the years.

Held at the historic Riviera Theatre in Charleston, CommTech Jeopardy brings together 5 teams from within the organization who have won on the regional and divisional levels before proceeding to the national finals.

The winners this year were the team from the Atlanta division, the "Atlanta Hertz". There was an additional prize drawing conducted by Wil Colón, VP of Plant Performance; SPATIALinfo was honored to supply an emergency radio and an iPad as prizes.
